Fennemore Craig lawyer James Goodnow appointed to the board of the Arizona Center for the Blind and Visually Impaired

Phoenix, Ariz., April 7, 2011—James Goodnow, an associate in the Phoenix office of Fennemore Craig, has been appointed to the board of directors for the Arizona Center for the Blind and Visually Impaired.

Goodnow practices in the area of Plaintiffs' Personal Injury. He is a native Phoenician and holds a juris doctorate from Harvard Law School.

“I am proud to be a member of the ACBVI board and to be associated with a local organization that for decades has been providing critical services for the blind and visually impaired,” Goodnow said.

The ACBVI's mission is to “enhance the quality of life for people who are blind or otherwise visually impaired.” The center, which was established in 1953, provides services in the areas of assistive technology, counseling, orientation and mobility training, rehabilitation teaching, social recreation, and social work.

Fennemore Craig is a full service law firm for businesses with 180 attorneys and offices in Phoenix, Tucson, Nogales, Las Vegas and Denver. For more information, visit www.fennemorecraig.com.
